DECLASSIFIED EXCISE

Acting
Tuesday
August 26, 1952

Staff meeting.

I saw Reed Harris of IIA regarding his operations and problems.

I spent a long time with Messrs. Fisher and Scott going over the draft on passport procedures [redacted] they had been discussing with the Secretary. They are hung up and at odds over how to define those persons who will be ineligible for passports even though they are not members of the Communist Party. It is [redacted] difficult to describe such individuals without [redacted] impairing civil liberties.

E. and I took inoculations for tyhpoid and typhus in preparation for our trip to Mexico, and afterwards she and Audrey had lunch with me at the Department.

I went over to the NAC meeting at the Treasury this afternoon and, after some explanation, the National Advisory Council gave us permission to go ahead with a $15,000,000 ESA loan to Pakistan for the purchase of wheat.

Jamie Bonbright talked to me about Secretary of the Navy Kimball's projected trip to Europe, in the course of which he expects to view Operation Mainbrace from a U. S. naval vessel. The people in the Department feel [redacted] strongly that this would afford further propaganda possibilities to those who think [redacted] the United States already plays too preponderant a part in NATO. It is also felt that Mr. Kimball may make some indiscreet utterances such as he did during his trip to the Far East. I telephoned Bob Lovett about this, but he answered that if we objected to it we should take it up with Kimball.

Earl Brennan came to see me. He is down here from New Hampshire, and would like to do certain work in Italy.

I had another go with Messrs. Fisher and Scott on the passport procedures language, but we could not reach an accord and will submit the differences to the Secretary tomorrow.

Homer Bigart of the New York Herald-Tribune called me about Mr. Jones' visit to Iran, which is receiving great publicity in the newspapers. I told Bigart that Jones was not acting in any respect on behalf of the U. S. Government, and was there on the official invitation of Mossadegh.

Tonight we had Audrey, the McFalls, Theodora Sedgwick, Harold Coolidge, and Elliott and B. Straus for dinner.
